

Assistant Professor – General Urologist

The Department of Urology at the University of California, Davis, School of Medicine, seeks to recruit for a full-time general urologist at the Assistant Professor rank in the Clinical X series.

Candidates must be board certified or board-eligible in Urology and be eligible for licensure in the State of California. Candidates are expected to enter at the Assistant Professor level in the Clinical X series, commensurate with experience and credentials. The candidate must have the ability to work cooperatively and collegially within a diverse environment and adhere to policies and procedures.

Candidate must be qualified to perform all aspects of general urology, including surgical and medical management of various urologic diseases and will have responsibilities in clinical care, teaching, creative work, and University/public service. The successful candidate will have experience in providing clinical services in general urology, evidence of teaching experience and publications of scholarly work in medical literature.

For first full consideration, applications must be received by March 8, 2017, however, the position will remain open until filled. Qualified applicants should apply online at UC Recruit: <https://recruit.ucdavis.edu/apply/JPF01445>.

Please submit CV, letter of interest, statement of contributions to diversity and three professional references as PDF files.

To learn more about the Department of Urology at UC Davis, please visit: <http://www.ucdmc.ucdavis.edu/urology/>

University of California, Davis is an affirmative action/equal opportunity employer with a strong institutional commitment to the achievement of diversity among its faculty, staff, and students. The University undertakes affirmative action to assure equal employment opportunity for women and minorities. All qualified applicants are encouraged to apply.